8th ECMI ANNUAL CONFERENCE
10 October 2018 · Brussels

Sustaining Growth through Innovation in Capital Markets
Sustaining Growth through Innovation in Capital Markets

Well-functioning, deeper and highly integrated European capital markets are expected to play a greater role in providing alternative corporate funding and better investment opportunities. To this end, the Capital Markets Union (CMU) project should aim beyond the actions set for end-2019, towards a revamped strategy for EU-27. This year’s annual conference will contribute to the public debate about the capacity of capital markets to enable long-term value creation in the real economy, namely supporting innovative companies and sustainable economic growth.

08:30 – 09:30  Registration

09:30 – 09:40  Opening remarks
Fabrice Demarigny, Global Head of Financial Advisory Services, Mazars; Chairman of ECMI

09:40 – 10:00  Keynote address
John Berrigan, Deputy Director General, DG FISMA, European Commission

10:00 – 11:15  Session 1. Financing innovation through capital markets
Europe’s innovative firms are still facing tremendous bottlenecks in financing their growth. Traditional bank channels are not sufficiently accessible or simply not suitable for this type of companies. Alternative funding sources (IPOs, direct listings, private equity, venture capital and crowdfunding) are unevenly available across Europe. Companies have very different experiences in raising capital on public or private markets, sometimes taking advantage of better opportunities on other continents. How to make these markets more efficient?

Keynote
Alexander Ljungqvist, Stefan Persson Family Professor of Entrepreneurial Finance, Stockholm School of Economics

Panel debate:
Gareth McCartney, Head of EMEA ECM Cash and Global Head of Syndicate, UBS
Wilfrid Xoual, Senior Vice President, Moody’s Investors Service
Stefano Corvo, Managing Director, GPI Group
Paul Tang, MEP, ECON Committee

Moderator: Florencio Lopez de Silanes, Professor of Finance, SKEMA Business School

11:15 – 11:45  Coffee break

11:45 – 13:00  Session 2. Building the framework for sustainable investments
Sustainable finance has a great potential to bring investors into sync with the long-term needs of the real economy. It can also provide powerful incentives for corporates to transform their operations and processes more swiftly and effectively. The incorporation of material Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) factors across their supply and investment chains would in turn enable compelling value propositions. Financial regulation should work alongside sectoral policies. How can sustainable finance be mainstreamed?

Panel debate:
Ana María Martínez-Pina, Vice-President, CNMV and Chair of the CRSC, ESMA
Jan G. Loeys, Senior Advisor, Long-Term investment Strategy, J.P. Morgan
Vicky Sins, Global Director, Energy & Commodities, ABN AMRO Clearing
Erick Decker, CIO Southern Europe & International and New Markets, AXA Group
Paulo Garcia, CFO, Unilever Europe

Moderator: Karel Lanno, CEO, CEPS and General Manager, ECMI
Session 3. Developing capital markets across Europe
In Europe, capital markets reached varying stages of development. In the CEE region, these are relatively small and lack sufficient liquidity and depth. Companies and households continue to rely heavily on the banking sector. Recent reports find that around €250bn in private capital could be unlocked if necessary reforms were pursued. Most governments and market participants have issued national strategies, and also intensified regional cooperation efforts. Moreover, the CMU project has received strong political support. But is it delivering on its promises?

Panel debate:
Daiga Auzina-Melalksne, Head of Baltic Exchanges, Nasdaq
Ian Firia, Chief Operations Officer, OSTC
Zoltán Bakay, Senior Analyst, Erste Group
Dimitris Zafeiris, Head of Risks & Financial Stability Department, EIOPA
Hannes Takacs, Associate Director, Local Currency and Capital Market Development, EBRD

Moderator: Franklin Allen, Professor of Finance and Economics, Imperial College London
